On the Road With Joe Peterson

Recently Joe Peterson was invited to join a crew of PEMCO Insurance executives in Eastern Virginia for a tour of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety (IIHS). He took some great photos during his trip. This one has to be our favorite!

Watch for more pictures and videos on our Facebook page and look for the full story in next month's JPI Insider!

Don't Get Surprised by Winter Water Damage

Did you know one of the most common insurance claims made by homeowners is water damage? Winter months bring freezing temperatures and frozen pipes. And undetected leaks can cause hundreds or thousands of dollars in damage.

We suggest homeowners inspect pipes and, particularly in colder parts of the country, insulate to prevent them from potentially freezing and bursting. Here's another tip from one of our agents: Always hire a house sitter when you're going to be away. They may catch a problem BEFORE it becomes too big and prevent you from coming home to an unpleasant surprise.

Another option is using leak detectors where leaks may go undetected. Learn more here. We think these are so nifty, we'd like to give you one! Stop by our office in November and get yours while supplies last.

JPI Relies on Coffee & Your Referrals

If you know someone who could benefit from our services, please tell them about us.

When you refer a friend to our office, we send you a $10 coffee card as our way of saying, "Thank you!"

And, for every referral we receive through the end of 2018, we'll donate $20 to homeless charities in the cities where we live and work.

Thanks to our satisfied clients, we generated over $500 in October alone!

JPI In the Community: Socks for the Homeless

We need your help! From now through November, JPI will be collecting socks for the homeless.

Socks are one of the most frequently requested items and particularly welcome during the cold winter months.

You can help by dropping socks off at our office during regular business hours. If you'd like, we'll even give you a shout out on Facebook!

Socks will be delivered to local missions in December. (Link to Facebook Page)
